

The Magic of Bedtime Reading!

"In this modern world where activity is stressed almost to the point of mania, quietness as a childhood need is too often overlooked. Yet a child's need for quietness is the same today as it has always been--it may even be greater. In quiet times and sleepy times a child can dwell in thoughts of his own, and in songs and stories of his own."
Margaret Wise Brown

Bedtime reading with my daughters when they were little was truly magical. Children need a regular bedtime and quiet reading with you. And children behave better when they get enough sleep. And we promise parents it will touch your heart too!

I'm lucky to have nine partners to practice pediatrics with me. They have all dedicated their careers to the study and treatment of sick children. But I realized I had never asked them what bedtime stories were their favorites when they read to their own children. So they've each picked one special book and favorite quote. We are happy to share these special memories with parents of our little patients.
